Money Matters

AGM 2018 Reflection

A dividend payment of 1% was approved by members attending the 25th Annual General Meeting and celebratory dinner on the 7th December 2018.

Members attending the event also adopted a motion to remove restrictions which only allowed members to serve on the Board of Directors. This will ensure the best possible expertise and experience is available to the Credit Union at its highest level of decision making.

It was also revealed by Chief Executive Officer Valerie Walwyn that members could look forward to new initiatives in 2019, including the implementation of:

- Further Automation of the loan process for faster service

- Introduction of a Visa Debit Card to allow members 24-hour access to their funds
- Introduction of a new business development role to broaden membership

In addition, AGM attendees were treated to an inspiring keynote address from Mark Lawton, Senior Vice President at Navy Federal Credit Union who paid tribute to Plane Saver on its celebration of 25 years in business.

Lawton said: "It is obvious to me that Plane Saver's extraordinary success over the last 25 years—and most certainly since the implementation of the Military Joining Forces initiative, is in large part due to the all-important focus it shares with Navy Federal on member service. It is clear that Plane Saver Credit Union is committed to providing the best possible services and products to its members."

Savers' Scoop

Plane Saver named UK's ethical lender of 2018

These days the words ethics and finance don't always go together, but at Plane Saver, we're putting morals back in to money. Winning the UK's Ethical Services Provider of the Year at the third annual Money Age Awards in October 2018, the Plane Saver team was recognised for innovative, people centred products such as the Payday Payoff loan facility for military personnel with Wonga loans.

On accepting the award, Chief Executive Officer Valerie Walwyn explained the credit union's aim is to provide members with products that make a positive difference and improve their lives.

Loans In A Flash

We understand that waiting for an approval of your loan can be nail biting, but for Plane Saver members, this stressful experience is a thing of the past after the recent launch of our faster loan processing procedure.
